FLYER

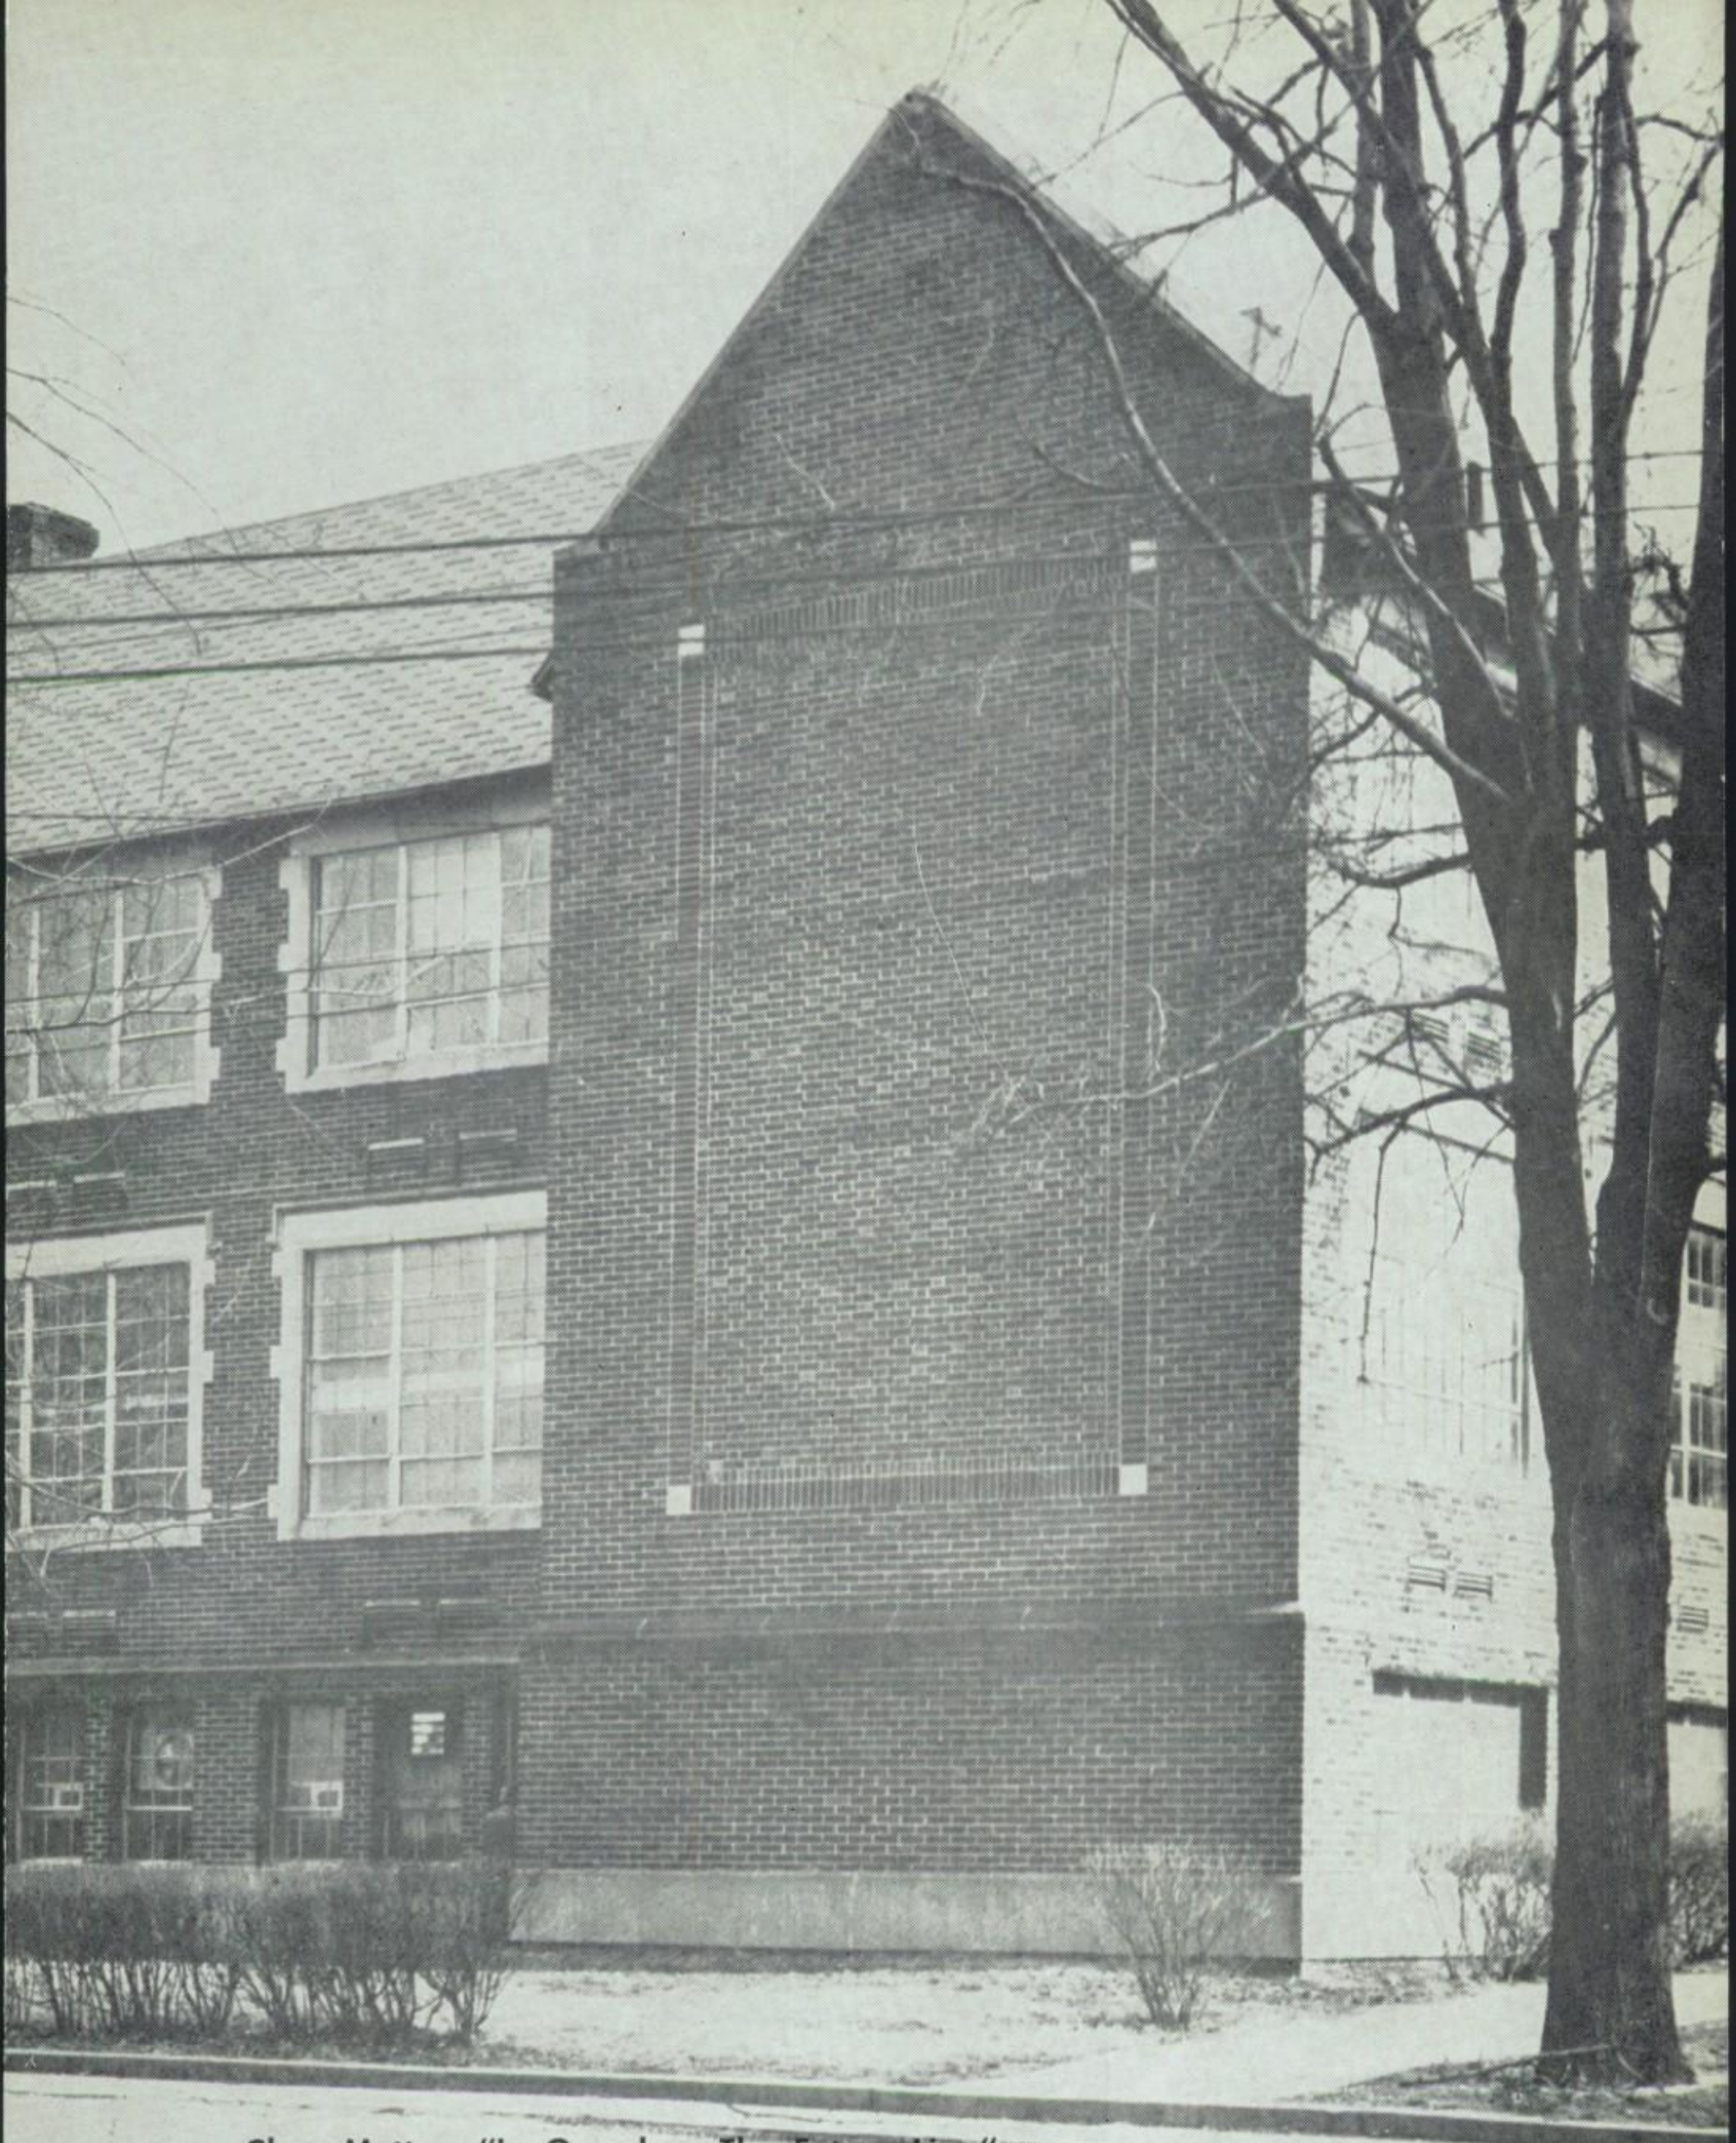

Dedication

To show our appreciation for his loyalty and faithfulness through seventeen years of school bus driving, the members of the Senior Class wish to dedicate the 1956 Flyer to Mr. Sterling Shubert. Mr. Shubert has also driven the bus for all of the school's extracurricular activities during these years.

SENIORS 12 YEARS AGO

Class History

In 1944 a group of anxious boys and girls entered the first grade at New Market School. Among these, thirteen are still with us: Marilee Johnson, Billie Ann Livesay, Tammy Miller, Keith Britton, Delores Baldwin, Eleanor Wiatt, Jerry Stevenson, Wilbert Jarvis, Robert Deck, Kenneth Kincaid, Shirley Powers, Larry Gentry, and John Swearingen. Mrs. Evelyn Douglas, our teacher, escorted us on a train trip to the canning factory in Ladoga. David Baker and Lyle Quigg joined us later this year.

We were off to a flying start. Now that we had passed into the second grade with Mrs. Widener as the teacher, she taught each of us to write to one thousand, which was quite an accomplishment. Dick Hargis, Bill Chamness, Glenda Dove, David Stull, and Sherman Morris became members of the class this year.

Ronnie Seaman, who turned out to be the class politician, joined us in the third grade. Ask Tammy, Butch, and Jerry what June told our teacher, Mrs. Edwards, about them. What was it, fellows???

Gee, fourth grade already! Rachel Young and Sandra Powers joined our now illustrious class. This was another year that proved to be quite mischievous for Keith and Tammy. How did you fellows retrieve those squirt guns that were taken from you by our teacher, Mrs. Grimes???

The next year we learned to be very well-behaved boys and girls. We didn't leave anything on our trays at noon; we didn't run in the halls, talk in classes, or write notes; and we didn't hesitate to get our lessons because we knew we would get jabbed by long, sharp fingernails if we did. Of course, we are talking about the fifth grade and our teacher, Mrs. Haines.

After Anthony Kochert and Byron Lewellen joined our class in the sixth grade, we had a grand total of forty-eight. Mrs. Imogene DeBusk, who did her best to prepare us for our roles as members of the "upstairs," accompanied us on a trip to Vincennes, Indiana, at the close of the year.

After finding what teacher went with what class and after realizing we could make as much noise as the other high school students could, we were well on our way in our first year "upstairs." Mr. Milligan, our home-room teacher, had to suffer through our once-a-week class meetings with Dick Miles as president. Who ever heard of correct parliamentary procedure? We hadn't! Don Hultz joined our class this year. Also, we made a trip to Indianapolis to see the Indiana Legislature in action.

Mr. Charles DeBusk and Mr. Phil Beck escorted our class on a very educational trip to Chicago during our eighth grade. By this time we had some really good basketball players in our class; and when Fred Barth joined us, we thought we had never had it so good. The girls' physical education classes had quite a number of exciting episodes. Maybe we should have had some lessons on "How to Use a Zipper Correctly." Would that have been a good idea, Glenda?

At the Fish Fry in 1952 we got our first taste of what it was going to be like to be freshmen. We were painted with lipstick, made fun of, and treated terribly. The girls who joined Sunshine were given instructions as to what to wear on initiation day at school. What a conglomeration! Luckily, Mr. Cassidy, our principal, was absent that day. A pair of twins, Doris and Phyllis Dyer, joined our class this year. The Sunshine Society held a volley ball tournament, and we freshmen girls won.

As sophomores we looked forward to painting the oncoming crop of green freshies at the Fish Fry. This year we also strutted around proudly in our blue and gray class sweaters, the prettiest New Market had ever seen. Our class was really grown-up now. Some of the boys even had driver's licenses.

As we continued to climb the ladder of education, we found ourselves in the junior spotlight. Of course, the big thing this year was getting our class rings. Nevertheless, some classmates didn't keep them very long! Aided by the wonderful directing of Mrs. Wray, we presented our play, "Moonlight and Applesauce," on April Fool's Day, but it surely was no joke. We were very pleased to have a sell-out on tickets. As juniors it was our pleasure to hold a reception in honor of the seniors. It was held at Old Trail Inn with Colonial Days as our theme carried out in the decorations. After dinner Gene Patton and his band provided music for dancing. We had worked hard on the reception and were rewarded by a great many compliments.

September, 1955, started the school year with our class as seniors. On October 1 we presented our play, "Kicked Out of College." On December 1 we gave a chicken supper to secure funds for our trip to New York after graduation. Plans for the Annual have already been started, and all graduation plans are in action. We wish to thank our parents, teachers, and all the people who have made our school days happy and our education possible.

Class Will

We, the members of the Class of 1956 of the New Market Joint School, sincerely and thoughtfully do hereby will the following personal traits and legacies to the so-named beneficiaries.

We, Keith Britton and Tammy Miller, will to Fred Miles our ability to sit on the bread box and keep cool.

I, Sandra Powers, will my energy to Shirley Hood.

I, Glenda Dove, will my ability to get a fiance to Elaine Rains.

We, Marilee Johnson and Rachel Young, will our ability to get an "A" in band to Tom DeBusk.

I, Anthony Kochert, will my dignity to Clifton Carr.

We, Butch Jarvis and Don Hultz, will our ability to stay out late to Harold Keller.

I, Jerry Stevenson, will my curly hair to Jim Keller.

We, Dave Baker and Tom Williamson, will our ability to carry pencils on top of our ears to those who would like it.

We three side-kicks, Doris Dyer, Phyllis Dyer, and Virginia Pittenger, will our giggles to Herschell Beecher.

We, Eleanor Wiatt and Delores Baldwin, will our worn-out clarinets to two music-minded people.

We, David Stull and Fred Barth, will our love stories to Dale Hester.

I, Ronnie Seaman, will my political philosophy to Edna Kochert.

I, Larry Gentry, will my ability to drive like "Doc" to Marion Maxwell.

We generals, Sherman Morris and John Swearingen, will our command of the school to David South.

We, Byron Lewellen and Dick Hargis, will our ability to stay out of wrecks to Rex Larew.

We, Billie Ann Livesay and Jeanie Powers, will our tight skirts to Anna Fruits.

I, Lyle Quigg, will my police pull to Dean Williams.

I, Bob Deck, will a permanent seat in the Senior Room to Dan Cook, who now has a temporary one.

I, Kenneth Kincaid, will my love for library books to the whole student body.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mr. King a bottle of hair restorer.

We, the Class of 1956, will our sponsors, Mrs. McCarthy and Mr. Douglas, good luck and best wishes with the Class of 1960.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mr. Wilson a bright red Contour chair.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mr. DeBusk a supply of "growing pills" for his Junior High basketball team.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mr. Milligan a space ship to take his science class on field trips.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mrs. Hall a quiet, undisturbed library and the student body another social corner to take its place.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mrs. Wray a quiet, intelligent speech class.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mrs. Quigg a robot to count the school money for her.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mr. Bucklew a magic wand to wave at his band.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mrs. Hulbert a good time in the Senior Room next year.

We, the Class of 1956, will our Senior Room and all the excitement that goes with it to the juniors, our abounding intellect to the sophomores, our ability to endure the perturbing classes to the freshmen, and our exuberant rowdiness to the Junior High.

We, the Class of 1956, will Mr. Young a simplified health book.

THE SENIOR CLASS

Class Prophecy

We take our annual trip around the world in 1974.

Before we boarded the ship, we noticed a small concession stand operated by "Hotdog" Kochert. "Penny Pincher" Quigg was operating the popcorn machine.

As we boarded the ship, we noticed that "Fire Water" Jarvis was massaging alcohol on "Captain" Lewellen's back with a wire brush.

We arrived in Hawaii before schedule because of the jet propelled motor in charge of "Hurricane" Hultz.

After we left the ship, we passed a small theater where the Dyer twins were starred in a big production called a "Hula For Two."

After we left Hawaii, we were startled by seeing two small figures on a deserted island. As we approached, we were surprised to find that it was Fred and Shirley. They were playing Tic-Tac-Toe in the sand. When we came nearer, they waved us on.

The next stop was Australia, where we took a tour into the wilderness. The guide was none other than Sandra Powers, "The Man Hunter." In a little clearing we stopped at a kangaroo ranch operated by Billie Ann Livesay and Ken Kincaid. We finally got out of the wilderness without any mishaps.

We then went to Shanghai, from which point we took an airplane trip over China, the plane being piloted by "Wang Lung" Williamson.

Afterwards we went to Moosecalf, Russia, where we were greeted by "Comrade" Herb Swearingen and his companion, Rachel Young.

We left Russia by a camel caravan and entered into Arabia. We passed a Foreign Legion post and saw Larry Gentry and Tammy Miller on K.P. duty. We went farther into the desert and found a small oasis where we saw Sherm Morris and Virginia Pittenger watering their camels. The desert brought no more events to us.

We then left Arabia and went to our next destined stop, Pietermaritzburg, Union of South Africa. There we saw Dick Hargis employed by the Sanitary Street Cleaners' Department. On the same block we noticed Deck's "We Wash and You Iron Service."

We had a dangerous journey to Paris, as we were piloted by Keith Britton in his black and yellow Piper Cub.

When we arrived in Paris, we went to the Riviera where we saw Eleanor Wiatt in a Bikini bathing suit. While in Paris, we went sightseeing. We came upon a man pushing a cart around with the most beautiful flowers in it. He was giving a lecture on the Leaning Tower of Pisa. Who was he? Well, it couldn't be anyone else but Pierre Ron Seaman.

When we started for the good old U.S.A. on the Queen Elizabeth, we were passed by a green and purple canoe paddled by Dave Stull and Glenda Dove. Glenda was playing a banjo and singing, "Oh, Jackie, Oh, Jackie!" We also saw Delores Baldwin swimming the Atlantic Ocean.

After we landed in New York, we drove home on a six-lane highway. We were passed by Jake Stevenson, driving his Model T Ford, and Dave Baker, driving a hopped up 1912 Oldsmobile. Riding with Dave was Marilee Johnson, his girl Friday.

We stopped to get gasoline at a small garage in Bal Hinch, where we found Mrs. McCarthy taking care of the gasoline tanks. After we left the garage, we came across a man with a quail slung over his shoulder. He was wearing a fur coat and carrying a muzzle-loading rifle. We stopped and asked him if he needed a lift, and we found to our surprise that it was Mr. Douglas. We drove him into New Market, and then we said goodbye to each other until next year.

Row 2: Manager Glenn Livesay, John Lytle, Dean Williams, Coach Joe Young, Marion Maxwell, Jim Keller, Tom DeBusk, Manager Ronald Seaman.

Starting the season with four impressive victories in the first four games, the New Market Flyers cooled off to end the season with eight victories and thirteen defeats.

Victories over Waveland and Brownsburg, teams we had not defeated for several years, high-lighted the 1955-56 season.

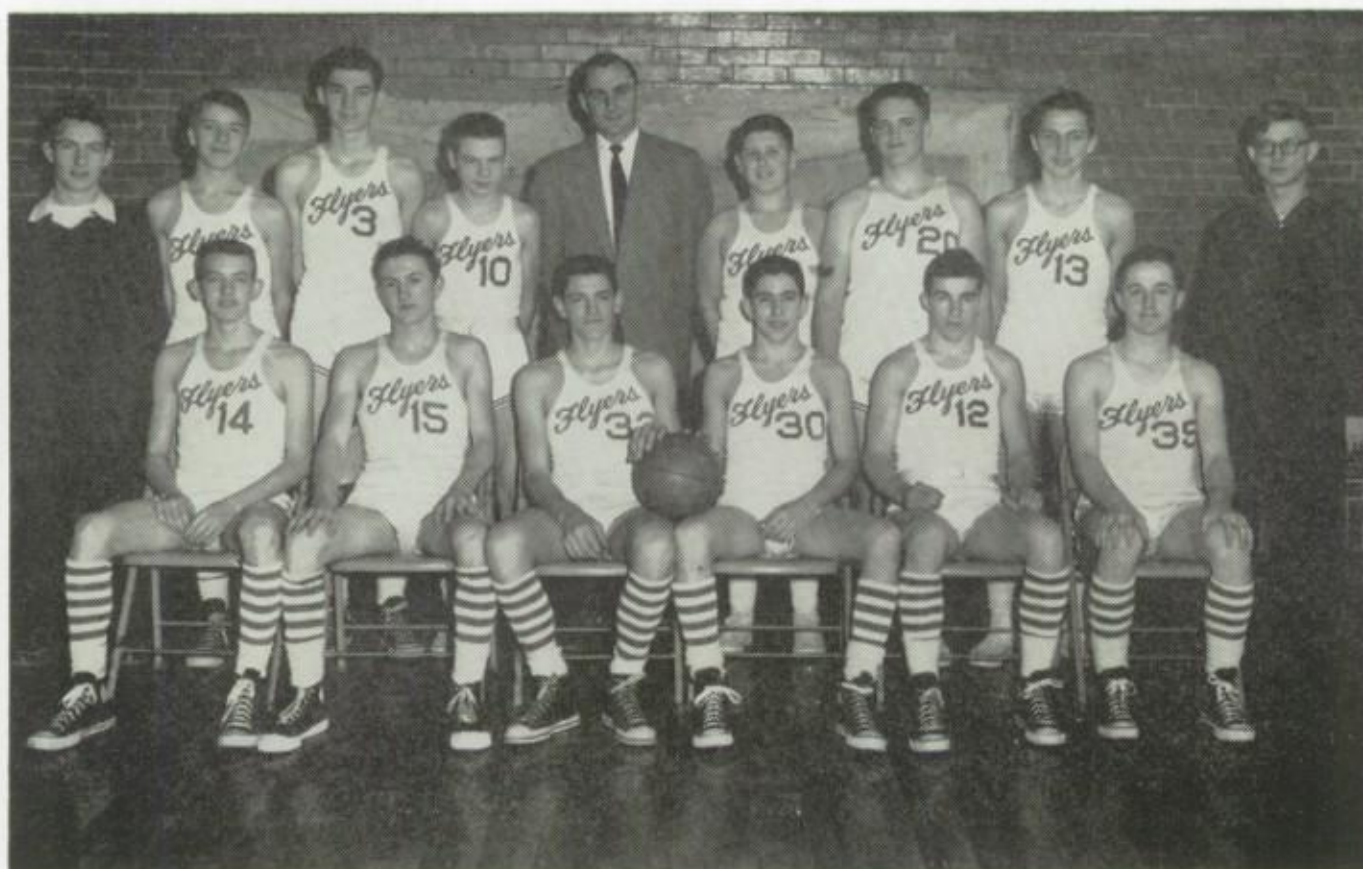

Keith Britton with 327 points and Dennis Wray with 243 points were the high scorers for the Flyers.

Award jackets were given to two seniors, Tammy Miller and Fred Barth. Sweaters were given to Keith Britton and to the student manager, Ron Seaman. Tammy Miller was elected captain by his teammates and Keith Britton was voted the most valuable player at the end of the year.

The reserve team had a highly successful season, winning twelve games and dropping six.
